PROFILE

I'm a fourth-year Industrial Design student at NID. I believe design starts with behaviour: closely understanding how people live, and how materials directly define that experience. My work explores product development, interaction design, CMF, grounded in user research and observation. I'm eager to bring this approach into collaborative design practice.

ACADEMIC PROJECTS

1. SIMPLE PRODUCT DESIGN - NURSING AID
Designed a portable, ergonomic nursing aid for first-time mothers

2. TECHNICALLY COMPLEX PRODUCT — BREATH-BASED METABOLIC TRACKER
Developed a handheld breath-sensing concept for long-term weight maintenance.

3. DESIGN RESEARCH AND METHODOLOGIES -STRAY DOG SYSTEM
System mapping of Street Dogs of Local Mangalagiri Market

4. NAVIGATION FOR GIG DELIVERY RIDERS
Designed a voice-assisted system to reduce phone interactions while riding.

5. INTERACTIVE PRODUCT DESIGN
Hospital Wayfinding for Rural Patients

Other Coursework also spans human factors, interaction design, mechatronics, CMF, display & control, detailing & assembly, and form studies.
